What to have ready

Where an item cites an FDA page, it ties to that page; the others are what IHS needs to scope the work.

- A count of full-time employees licensed as pharmacists or qualified as pharmacy technicians across the company that owns the pharmacy, as of November 27, 2026 (FDA exemptions page [https://www.fda.gov/drugs/drug-supply-chain-security-act-dscsa/exemptions-under-drug-supply-chain-security-act], content current as of 08/26/2026).
- The date you last checked FDA's exemption notices, and which notice you are relying on.
- Your receiving procedure, showing how staff confirm product tracing documentation accompanies each prescription drug (FDA, pharmacists page [https://www.fda.gov/drugs/drug-supply-chain-security-act-dscsa/pharmacists-utilize-dscsa-requirements-protect-your-patients]).
- Where and how product tracing documentation is stored, and how you will keep it for six years (same page [https://www.fda.gov/drugs/drug-supply-chain-security-act-dscsa/pharmacists-utilize-dscsa-requirements-protect-your-patients]).
- Your procedure to quarantine and investigate suspect prescription drugs (same page [https://www.fda.gov/drugs/drug-supply-chain-security-act-dscsa/pharmacists-utilize-dscsa-requirements-protect-your-patients]).
- Your procedure to notify FDA and the trading partners you bought a drug from and sold it to (same page [https://www.fda.gov/drugs/drug-supply-chain-security-act-dscsa/pharmacists-utilize-dscsa-requirements-protect-your-patients]).
- A current list of trading partners, so notices can reach the right party.
- Vendor contracts and system documentation for each DSCSA step your vendors perform, mapped against the duties on FDA's pharmacist page (same page [https://www.fda.gov/drugs/drug-supply-chain-security-act-dscsa/pharmacists-utilize-dscsa-requirements-protect-your-patients]).
- If you do not qualify as a small dispenser, a record of whether you can meet the enhanced requirements, and whether a waiver, exception or exemption request is under consideration (FDA exemptions page [https://www.fda.gov/drugs/drug-supply-chain-security-act-dscsa/exemptions-under-drug-supply-chain-security-act]).
