What to have ready

Each item ties to 45 CFR Part 170 as ONC describes it on its Conditions and Maintenance of Certification page [https://healthit.gov/certification-health-it/conditions-ccg/] and certification process page [https://healthit.gov/certification-health-it/certification-process/].

- A list of your certified products and the ONC-ACB and ONC-ATL each is registered with (process page).
- Your prior attestations and the dates of each attestation window you have met since your product's certification (six-month attestation requirement).
- Where your certification records are stored and how long they are kept, measured against the 10-year retention requirement.
- Your most recent Real World Testing plan and the date your ONC-ACB published it on the CHPL (December 15 requirement).
- Your most recent Real World Testing results and their CHPL publication date (March 15 requirement).
- Your change-control records for certified functionality, since retained records must show “initial and ongoing compliance”.
- The names of the engineering, security and regulatory leads who will own each condition.
- Customer contract or RFP language that requires certified products, including any reference to the Promoting Interoperability program (process page).
